

TESTIMONIAL.....How Professional Project Management program conducted by SABCONS helped Jyothi to become a successful jewellery entrepreneur.

Dear Sir

It was great talking to you yesterday.

Let me rewind and tell you couple of things

I was checking with couple of friends on the PMP Program way back in 2010 and that is how I got to know about Sabcons . My friend has guaranteed that the class given by you would be something we would cherish in our life later. I did not have any expectations other than attending the class for a preparatory exam. I have never stayed awake for any classroom sessions through out my carrier. I used to fall asleep in 1 hrs time. So the thought of classroom session itself used to keep me off. You wouldn't believe If I say I have attended a corporate Art of Living and slept for that too ☺. I should thank you sir for giving the credit of keeping me stay awake and think through out the classroom sessions. Post the class I wanted to write the exam not for getting a promotion or get a high package but for the benefit of myself.

It was tough with a kid around, working for 10 hrs and cooking, but I was determined and passed out with very good scores in March 2011.

You have given me the opportunity to come and speak about my PMP experience there. I felt really happy and it still remains as a memorable day.

I wanted to start something of my own last year and hence started off with my initiation phase. It took 2-3 months for me to go live with my passion.

I wanted it to be different and decided to go with only Semi precious beads as it is natural rock and will not create any hazard /issues to anyone around. I have checked with many stores, made some loss with Indian suppliers and have decided to procure all materials from GEM certified stores abroad.

I have initially started selling to my friends and then to a group outside. After receiving good response I created a page in face book. I hardly keep my jewels in any online stores as things gets picked up very fast when I upload it in FB. I dint want to keep in any boutique as I don't like people trying it out, I prefer the jewels going fresh to the person who is buying it.

During this process I have learned and implemented all the phases and stages on Project Management. I keep learning new stuffs and read to enhance my knowledge in this field.

I will not say I wouldn't have started Mayuri Jewels without PMP. But I can truly say that I wouldn't have been able to do it as effectively and efficiently without the training and knowledge I have gathered through the course and exam.

Thanks a lot Sir for enabling me as an entrepreneur. I do procurement of resources to product delivery myself now. Will see how it goes. This has also helped me to create many new passions like doing product photography, I name all my jewels, name of the jewel is the identification code that is something I really like doing .

My page is www.facebook.com/mayurijewels Please feel free to go and browse when time permits.

Last week there was a small feature in CityPlus sharing it for your reference

Take care and Keep in touch

Jyothi
